

Portfolio Project Report: J&J Promotions

Introduction

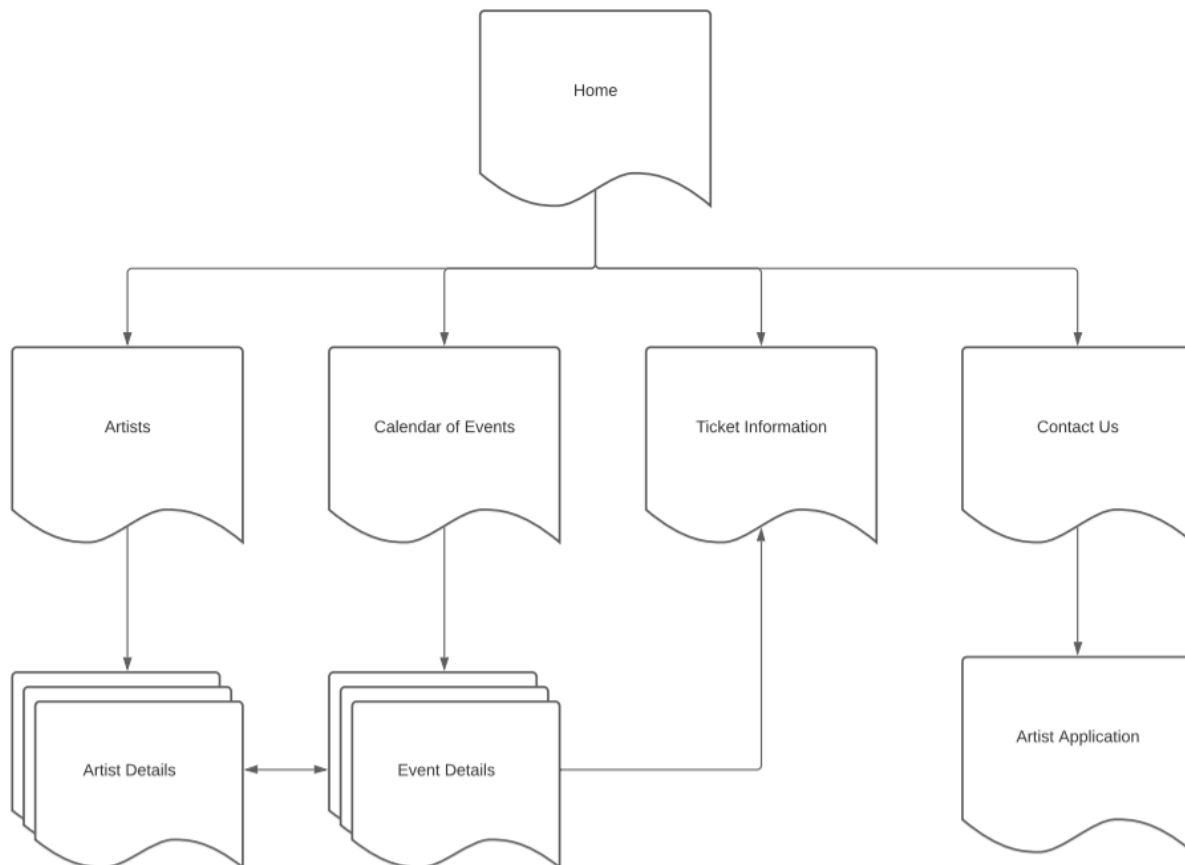

J&J Promotions's website features a calendar of events, artists profiles, and ticket information. The calendar of events is a brief listing of all upcoming and previously held events promoted by J&J; within this section of the site there are also links to more event details on each individual event's details page. The artist profile pages are similar and link to both the Artists page and the Event Details pages where the artist is on the ticket for that event. Ticket information currently is an informational page that links to the ticket vendor that they are currently contracted with. There will also be pages for contacting J&J Promotions and a page for new artists to apply with their details.

User Interface Design & Prototype

Please see the attached drawings for basic details about the overall design plan for this website.

Navigation Structure

The site will be simple in structure. The main pages will make up the navigation menus. The details pages will be linked from several sources, but will not appear in the main navigation due to the sheer number of these pages.
